OUTLINES.

The Deep Waterways Conference met in Philadelphia yesterday to promote the scheme for a great inland waterway for navigation from Cape Cod, Maine, to Beaufort Inlet, N. C.; five hundred delegates from Maine to California are in attendance, including Senators, Congressmen and other representative men from all the States along the Atlantic ocean; great enthusiasm is manifested over the scheme—At a meeting of the directors of the Atlantic Coast Line, in Richmond, yesterday the dividend was deferred—Mrs. Annie M. Bradley, on trial in Washington for the murder of former Senator Brown, of Utah, occupied the witness stand yesterday and told of her early relations with Brown; relating how she deserted her husband for him to be finally spurned and driven to the desperation that caused her to shoot him; the defense will be that she was irresponsible—Seventeen persons were injured, none fatally, in a head-on collision yesterday afternoon between the northbound and southbound passenger trains at the entrance to the new terminal tunnel of the Southern Railway, at Washington—In the proceedings of the American Federation of Labor, at the Jamestown Exposition yesterday, President Gompers sat down on a proposition to organize a labor party and enter politics, caustic resolutions against the American and Continental Tobacco companies were adopted and calling for a boycott against all drug stores selling certain brands of cigars made by those companies; the farmers are invited to join the Federation in its purposes—The Alabama Senate yesterday, by a vote of 32 to 2, passed the prohibition bill for the state, already passed by the House, so that it will become a law as soon as the governor signs it—Trial of Raymond Hitchcock, the New York actor, charged with assaulting young girls, will begin within two weeks—Charles Murray, of Wakefield, N. C., died in a Philadelphia hospital of gun-shot wounds recently received in a quarrel—Secretary Taft yesterday left Vladivostok for St. Petersburg, accompanied by Russian detectives to insure his safety—J. W. Cabaniss and C. M. Orr, cashier of the defunct Exchange bank of Macon, are on trial for embezzling $140,000 from the bank—New York markets: Money on call firm 5 to 9 per cent, ruling rate, 7, closing bid 6, offered at 6; spot cotton steady 10.80; flour dull and barely steady; wheat weak, No. 2 red 1.00 5-8 elevator, No. 2 hard winter 1.03 5-8, corn weak, No. 2, 65 1-2 elevator, No. 2 white 67, oats steady, mixed 52, natural white 52 to 54 1-2; turpentine firm 51 1-2; rosin quiet, strained common to good 3.55 to 3.90.

There is said to be a shortage in the champagne supply. We didn't know that there was any left.

Tom Johnson beat Roosevelt out in Cleveland. Hughes ought to clinch New York, else acknowledge that he's no Tom Johnson to whip out a President.

The next party who trades with William Randolph Hearst will have reasonable doubts whether he can deliver the goods in sufficient quantities to keep up business.

In order to sell great stacks of tickets for a charitable entertainment some Boston girls advertised that they would be dressed in bloomers. Of course the men in attendance outnumbered the attendants of the gentle sex, but the girls fooled them. They wore Chrysanthemum blooms.

A court at Lawrence, Mass., granted David Wilson a divorce from his wife because she persisted in rummaging his pockets after the old man had put up frequent and strenuous remonstrances and warnings. The court held that her act constituted cruelty. She will console herself by considering it cruelty to animals.

A young fellow in New York, worth $1,500,000 so far as money goes, married a wealthy young woman a year ago. Both are now anxious for a divorce. She says he is drunken and worthless and he says she is extravagant and heartless. Money doesn't make every couple happy, by a jug fall.

New Mexico and Arizona probably will soon come in as the 47th State of our Union, if they can agree to consolidation, which, however, they rejected at the election held on that question under the Statehood act of Congress. Oklahoma, composed of Oklahoma and Indian Territories, now constitutes the 46th Commonwealth that has been carved out of this great country.

The New York Board of Education bars teachers who are married, especially women, unless their husbands are invalids or have disappeared. This probably will make many a woman cause the old man to "disappear" so she can make a living. President Roosevelt, who "does things," should see that married people have jobs so they can support families that are so necessary to the Nation's life.

WILLIAM FRENCH

Sudden Death of Prominent Wilmington Citizen While Hunting Near Florence, S. C.

ACUTE ATTACK OF HEART

Pioneer Merchant of City and Senior Member of Firm of George R. French & Son—Remains Here This Afternoon.

Mr. William Augustus French, one of Wilmington's pioneer merchants and most prominent business men, senior member of the firm of George R. French & Sons, and a gentleman held in the highest esteem by everyone in the circle of his acquaintance, died suddenly yesterday forenoon while hunting, with his son, Mr. John T. French, on the latter's plantation about seven miles from Florence, S. C., whither the elder Mr. French had gone Monday a week ago with the hope that his annual outing there would be of benefit to him.

When he went away he was apparently in the best of health and since being at the home of his son he had seemingly been in better than his usual health, so that relatives in this city were totally unprepared for the sad news received in telegrams early in the afternoon to the effect that Mr. French was dead.

His son, Mr. William A. French, Jr., and Mr. L. H. Burnett, a salesman in the store of the firm, received the news in time to leave hurriedly on the afternoon train for Florence and they telephoned fuller particulars of the death to other relatives in the city early last night.

It appears that Mr. French and his son went gunning soon after breakfast yesterday morning and while some distance from the house the two became separated in a thick undergrowth. When the younger Mr. French came out and saw nothing of his father, he listened for his approach through the woods and was startled to hear groans as if from some one in distress. He hurriedly sought out his father and was shocked to find him lying prostrate in the last agonies of death. He had passed away almost before his hand had reached him.

The news was quickly conveyed to the home of the son and as soon as possible a messenger was sent to Florence and the news conveyed to the family in this city. It came as a great shock to the family and friends and everywhere during the afternoon and evening were heard expressions of the greatest sorrow at the passing of this good citizen. These expressions of sorrow were intermingled with feelings of the greatest sympathy for those so deeply bowed down in grief.

The remains of the late Mr. French will be brought to the city on this afternoon's train at 1:45 o'clock and will be taken to the late residence, No. 107 South Fourth street. The funeral arrangements will be made later.

William Augustus French was born in Wilmington in December 1835 and was, therefore, in the 72nd year of his age. His father was the lamented George R. French, who founded the business now conducted by his sons in the year 1822, the house being the oldest in the city and perhaps the oldest in North Carolina. Mr. French had been connected with the business established by his father practically all of his life and was Wilmington's oldest and one of its most progressive business men, being with his brother, Mr. George R. French, in active charge of the business up to the time of his death. Early in life Mr. French attended the old Wilmington Academy, of which Mr. Megninney was principal, and later spent two years as a student at Wake Forest College. Upon leaving college he returned to Wilmington and was first associated with the late E. J. Ludlow as commission merchant on the wharf and agent for a Fayetteville line of steamers. He remained there two years and then went with his father in the shoe business, the store then being located at No. 11 Market street, that being the leading thoroughfare at the time. In 1866 the firm bought from the Bank of Wilmington the stores now occupied by Chesnut & Barentine and R. C. DeRosier and moved there in the Fall of 1867. At that time there were no stores of prominence on Front street and the firm was not only a pioneer in Wilmington but on Front street, which in later years has become the leading thoroughfare of the city. The firm remained in business there until 1872 when larger quarters were necessary for the growing business and the present structure at 108 North Front street was occupied by the house. This was the first four-story building erected in Wilmington and was the first of steel frame. In 1867 the sons were admitted into the partnership with the father and since that time the firm has been known as George R. French & Sons, being possibly the largest wholesale and retail establishment of boots, shoes and findings in the State. Since the death of the father in 1889, the business has been conducted by the sons, Messrs. W. A. and George R. French. They were not only the pioneer merchants in Wilmington but were always in the front rank of the city's progress and the

PRESIDENT FELICITATED

Cape Fear Chapter, Daughters of Confederacy, Held Interesting Session Yesterday Afternoon—Election of Mrs. Willard.

Upon the honor of her election to the vice presidency of the National organization at the general convention in Norfolk, Va., the past week, Mrs. Martin S. Willard, president of the local organization, was given a most enthusiastic vote of appreciation by Cape Fear Chapter No. 2, United Daughters of the Confederacy of this city, at its regular meeting yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the Wilmington Light Infantry armory. The election of Mrs. Willard to this position of honor with the United Daughters of the entire country is an honor both to the Chapter in Wilmington and to the Daughters of North Carolina and full expression was given by the local chapter at the meeting yesterday.

The attendance was large and most enthusiastic. Mrs. Willard presided and in the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Cuthbert Martin, the proceedings were kept by Mrs. James P. Woolvin. After the enthusiastic reception to the president, the regular order of business was taken up. The Laurel Wreath Committee for the month was named to consist of Mrs. P. B. Manning, Mrs. B. O. Stone and Mrs. L. L. Pritchard. These will have the melancholy duty of placing upon the grave of any veteran who may pass away during their incumbency a laurel wreath of beautiful flowers according to the patriotic custom of the Daughters all over the Southland.

A committee composed of Mrs. T. E. Sprunt, Mrs. Junius Davis and Mrs. W. G. Pulliam was appointed to confer with a similar committee from the United Confederate Veterans in regard to a proper celebration of the birthday of the peerless General Lee. All the delegates to the general convention at Norfolk made report of royal entertainment by the Virginia people and expressed pleasure at the work accomplished.

One new member of the Chapter was elected to membership and one Cross of Honor was conferred, this being to Comrade Rackley, who lives some distance from Wilmington and could not get to Wilmington sooner for this honor. The Cross was pinned on the gallant old soldier by Miss Hettie James.

NO MEETING OF BOARD

Mayor Will Not Call Aldermen Together Tonight as Expected.

Mayor Springer stated yesterday afternoon that in view of the absence of Colonel Walker Taylor, chairman of the Commission, and the further fact that a majority of the members of the Board think nothing will be lost by waiting until the regular meeting in December, that he had decided not to call the Aldermen together in special session tonight to consider the water works communication received Monday evening. Further than that he would say nothing beyond that the subject matter of the letter did not call for any immediate action and the Aldermen did not care to be called together for considering it. There were no further developments in the situation yesterday and none are expected until the Board meets. It seems to be the opinion of those well informed that the Aldermen will not agree to arbitration because they say they have nothing to arbitrate. It is also said that there will be no compromise as between the $140,000 offered as an amendment and the original offer of $155,000, which was called off just before the deal was closed, or at least as the Aldermen say was called off just before a trade had been entered into.

story of the life of Mr. William A. French is the business history of the city. The firm was the first to employ a lady salesman in the city and in many other respects the Messrs. French were the leaders.

Mr. French married Miss Harriet P. Timmons, of Effingham, S. C., and it was only a year or two ago that they celebrated most happily their fiftieth wedding anniversary. There are surviving him two sons, Messrs. John T. French, of Florence, S. C., and Mr. W. A. French, Jr., of this city; two daughters, Mrs. Elias Richards, of Lynchburg, Va., and Mrs. Caroline Furber, of Covington, Ky. There are also surviving two brothers, Mr. George R. French of this city, and Mr. Charles French, of Minneapolis, Minn., and a number of grandchildren, nephews and nieces. To all of the bereaved ones is extended the sympathy of a great many friends.

Mr. French was one of the leading members of the First Baptist Church and it was largely through his instrumentality that the present handsome house of worship at northwest corner of Fifth and Market streets was erected. He had been identified with every movement that made for the uplift of his fellowman and the progress of his city. He was at one time president of the old Wilmington Seacoast Railroad, had been a member of the School Committee and occupied various positions of trust and honor in his community. He presence will be sadly missed in Wilmington.

FINLEY WAS PRESENT

Called on The Governor and Had Conference at Raleigh Yesterday.

GUEST OF COL. ANDREWS

Spent Two Hours in Executive Office—State Capital Has Full-fledged Prohibition Election Row—Other News Notes.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 19.—President Finley of the Southern Railway Company, arrived today to be present tonight at an elaborate reception at the home of Col. A. B. Andrews, first vice president, in honor of Col. Andrews's son, Graham, and his bride, nee, Miss Eliza Simmons, who have just returned from their bridal trip.

Considerable stir was created by President Finley and Col. Andrews calling on Governor Glenn at the executive office during the afternoon. The call continued two hours. Neither of the visitors would talk of what transpired. Gov. Glenn said it was purely a call on the part of President Finley to "pay his respects" and that while the railroad rate situation was discussed to some extent, both railroad officials fully realized his position and that he, the governor, can be a party to no compromise. The hearing, he says, will be resumed here next Monday.

Governor Glenn issues commissions to a number of game wardens, C. N. Swain, of Southport, being among the number.

The Governor leaves Thursday for Washington, D. C., to deliver an address before the International Y. M. C. A. convention to be in session there.

State Auditor Dixon is back from Columbus, Ohio, where he attended the meeting of State auditors and tax commissioners of the United States. Thirty-eight States and the Dominion of Canada were represented at the meeting, which was a success in every respect. Auditor Dixon said it was easy to be seen that most of the commissioners in attendance were "State's rights" men.

President C. C. Moore, of the Cotton Growers' Association, spent some time here today and expressed gratification at the way growers are holding their cotton and otherwise carrying out the purposes of the organization.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 19.—Will there, or will there not be an election in Raleigh December 26th on "Prohibition" or "dispensary" is the liveliest question just now this city has confronted in a great while. The whole matter has taken a sensational turn in that instead of details for the election machinery being prepared and promulgated last night by the Aldermen, that body, during a long drawn-out session finally just before adjournment allowed a motion for further action to be withdrawn, so that the whole matter of holding the election, although ordered at a previous meeting, was left in abeyance because of the refusal of one Alderman, J. Sherwood Upchurch, to concede unanimous consent for a suspension of the rules governing the board so that the Aldermen could proceed with the adoption of the machinery to regulate the election. The prohibition advocates condemn the action of Alderman Upchurch for using this technical advantage over the prohibitionists after he had approved the petition for the election and personally, as chairman of a special committee for the purpose, pronounced the petition a complete compliance with the law, and even going further and voting with the other members of the board at the last meeting to call the election for December 26th. Alderman Upchurch gives as his reason for this course that he wants "fair play" in that it comes to him that quite a number of the signers of that petition for the election now want to withdraw their names. So he demands that the whole matter be left over until Friday night when opportunity can be given both for withdrawing and adding names to the petition just as was done when a previous petition was passed upon by the board. This was bitterly opposed by N. B. Broughton, Rev. S. J. Betts and other temperance advocates present, they demanding that the preparation of the machinery for the election be proceeded with or the whole movement abandoned so that the responsibility for the defeat could be left on the shoulders of Alderman Upchurch. This official assured them in bitter terms that he was willing, and indeed anxious to bear this burden which he was confident would receive the full approval of his constituents. The discussion assumed a right acute stage but was held within bounds by the rulings of Mayor Johnson who presided. Opinion is much divided as to the situation. Dispensary advocates are much gratified at the "hold up" and there are a good many of that wing of the temperance element who lean to the dispensary as a desirable control of the liquor business and, withal, a source of big revenue to the city and county, who are rather pleased at the turn taken, be-

AUDIT AND FINANCE BOARD

Regular Semi-Monthly Meeting of Board Last Night—Differentiate as to Repair and Building of Streets—Other Notes.

The Board of Audit and Finance of the city was in regular semi-monthly session last night at the City Hall, members in attendance having been Chairman McQueen and Messrs. Wilder and Tiencken. Possibly the most important action taken at the meeting was instruction to the clerk to notify the Streets and Wharves Committee that the recent special appropriation granted for the repair of the streets of the city was for repair work in the strictest sense of the word and not for the building of new streets as some of the members had information it was being used for, notably in the case of Miller street, leading to the cemetery.

It was also suggested to the Streets and Wharves Committee that in view of the fact that little material is now being used from the rock quarry on account of the limited appropriation that the services of a regular weigher at the quarry be dispensed with as the volume of operations is not thought to justify this weekly expense. It was also recommended that the position of engineer of the road roller be abolished from the fact that for all ordinary work the smaller roller drawn by horses is deemed sufficient. These matters will be communicated to the committee and may come up later again, when the committee will probably desire to explain its action in the matter.

It was decided to pay no more bills for establishing grades for sidewalks when the grades have been previously established where curbing has already been put down by the city.

Contract with Mr. Joe Schadd for work at Front street market was approved and bond accepted. The installation of a telephone in the new fire house near Fourth and Dock streets was authorized.

A communication came over from the Aldermen as to the amended offer that had been made for the purchase of the Clarendon Water Works plant, but in view of the fact that this has been declined by the company, no action was taken and the communication was merely placed on file. The Board adjourned subject to call.

THE CLAWSON GOLD MINE

Undeveloped Property Which Gives Promise for Wilmingtonian.

In its local columns yesterday morning the Charlotte Observer has the following with reference to a property in which the "Colonel Mulberry Sellers" of the Star staff is interested:

"Mr. W. D. Turner, who is engaged in opening up the old Clawson gold mine in York county, S. C., spent yesterday in the city. He came here to meet Mr. T. W. Clawson, of Wilmington, one of the owners. The mine was first opened up by Dr. Clawson in 1866, and is located just across the State line, 15 miles from Charlotte, five miles from Pineville, and four miles from Fort Mill. It gives promise of an abundant yield and the owners are promoting it with the view either of selling it in toto or forming a company and disposing of the stock. Mr. Turner struck a vein, 10 or 12 feet from the surface, which he followed a short distance and then went down deeper for a second and larger vein which he is looking for. What ore has been gotten out has assayed about $225 to the ton. The larger vein will likely be found this week."

WALTER THOMPSON ELECTED

Becomes Superintendent of Stonewall Jackson Training School.

(Special Star Correspondence.)
Concord, N. C., Nov. 19.—Mr. Walter Thompson, late of Statesville, N. C., has been elected superintendent of the Stonewall Jackson Manual Training and Industrial School, lately made possible through the assistance of the State Legislature. Mr. Thompson is a native of Lincoln county and was recently superintendent of Concord public schools. He is a son of Professor D. Matt Thompson, of Lincoln, and is an educator of fine ability. He is a graduate of the University of the class of 1898 and had charge of the Greensboro Graded Schools for four years. He is 32 years of age and has a wife and two children. A better selection could not have been made in the South.

The committee in charge of the matter of selecting a site met last night at Greensboro and unanimously accepted the proposition of the city of Concord and the county of Cabarrus to locate the school there. The proposition consisted of a donation of 227 acres of land and $1,000 in cash.

Living that to vote prohibition now would bring on the city a scourge of "blind tigers" that might develop more power than open saloons in city affairs. On the other hand there was a lengthy conference of prohibition leaders this morning at which W. N. Jones as attorney was directed to examine into the law and see if there was any way to overcome the refusal of "unanimous consent" by Upchurch and force the preparation of the machinery for the election in due time. Up to this time no move has been taken. If there is it will have to be in the form of a mandamus from a Superior Court judge requiring the Aldermen to proceed now that the order has been made for the election.

OPEN AIR MEETINGS

Campaign For Prohibition Election in Wilmington Reaches The Spectacular Stage.

FIFTH AND BLADEN STREETS

Evangelist Ham Spoke to About 250 Persons From Automobile—Speaks Again Tonight at Seventh and Castle.

The campaign for a prohibition election in Wilmington reached the spectacular last night when at 7:30 o'clock Evangelist Mordecai F. Ham, who is conducting the series of revival services in the First Baptist Church, was whisked up Fifth street to the corner of Fifth and Bladen in Pastor Hale's automobile and standing in the machine directly in front of the church at the corner, he delivered a characteristic campaign address to some two hundred or more men, women and children who had been attracted to the place at that hour by the handbills and press announcements of the day before. No preparations whatever had been made for the speaking and the two big search lights on the front and rear of the machine afforded the only illumination to the scene. Mr. Ham spoke hopefully of the movement, gave a graphic picture of the evils of the drink habit and concluded with a solo, after which there was a call for signatures on the petition to the Mayor and Board of Aldermen for an election. It was explained that a signature did not necessarily mean that the signer would vote for prohibition and quite a large number were secured out of the number assembled. Then there were calls in a hand primary for all who would vote for prohibition and a number went up. Then there was a call for those who would not vote for prohibition and only a few hands went up some in the audience responding neither in the affirmative nor in the negative on the question. The meeting was unique in many respects and Evangelist Ham kept the crowd in good humor.

At the conclusion of the speaking Mr. Ham announced that already the required eight hundred names had been affixed to the petition, but that it was desired for the moral effect to secure as many more signers as it was possible to secure, and it was with this end in view that the additional names were secured last night. At the conclusion of the speaking the evangelist drove away in the automobile while many shouted a good-bye to him and there was some cheering. The meeting was necessarily short from the fact that the evangelist had to return to the church in time to take charge of the regular 8 o'clock service.

It is announced that there will be another open-air meeting in behalf of the cause this evening at 7:30 o'clock at Seventh and Castle streets, while on Sunday there will be a mass meeting for men only at the church. At this latter service the entire church will be reserved for men and this will be one of the largest meetings yet held. The announcements were made at the open air meeting last night and all were given a cordial invitation to be present.

On the streets yesterday there was less discussion of the pending election and both sides expressed the greatest confidence. While all concede that a requisite number of names will be secured to ensure the election, it is an open question among those who discuss the matter as to whether or not prohibition will carry.

At the City Hall Messrs. W. L. West and Sam Ballinger are engaged in making a transcript of the registration books for their respective sides to be used in the campaign when the election is called. This is taken to mean that every inch will be contested and there is no gainsaying the fact that the election when called will be a warm number. As yet the anti-prohibitionists have made no announcements as to speeches that will be delivered in their behalf but this, it is said, will come later.

Death of Miss Maggie Mallett.

Friends in the city have learned with sorrow of the death of Miss Margaret Mallett, of Fayetteville, which occurred at an early hour Sunday morning. She is survived by one brother, Mr. John W. Mallett, of Albany, Ga., and two sisters, Mrs. E. J. Hale and Miss Alice H. Mallett, both of Fayetteville. Mrs. W. D. MacMillan and Mrs. Lee Holmes, relatives, of Wilmington, were among the large number who attended the funeral services Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock from St. John's Episcopal Church.

Two Days Longer.

The Polvogt Company announce that only two days remain of their November bargain sale, so only two days longer will their customers receive double trading stamps during the morning hours. After 12 o'clock only single stamps will be given away. New coat suits for ladies are arriving daily.

OPPOSE PARCELS POST.

As we expected, Southern retail merchants will oppose the parcels post bill which will come before Congress at its approaching session. Postmaster General Meyer, in his report will urge the adoption of this measure and President Roosevelt, it is stated, will recommend it in his message.

Charlotte merchants are the first in North Carolina to go on record against the parcels post, which is to come before Congress in the shape of a bill authorizing the Postoffice department to arrange for the transmission of parcels or packages of certain weight through the mails at a reasonable charge for postage. The Charlotte Observer of yesterday contained this item concerning the action of the retail merchants of that city:

"The Charlotte Retail Merchants' Association placed itself on record last night as opposed to the parcels post bill which is now pending in Congress. At the meeting held in the office of Mr. A. B. Justice a communication was read from the Postmaster General asking for an expression of opinion regarding this measure. After discussion a resolution was passed instructing the officers to use their influence to prevent the passage of this bill on the ground that it is untimely, ill-advised and unnecessary. It is claimed that the measure is designed for no other purpose than to assist the large Northern catalogue houses and will result in practically no benefit to Southern dealers."

The Observer states that Mr. Norman H. Johnson, of Raleigh, general counsel for the North Carolina Retail Merchants' Association, who was present, delivered a most interesting and timely address which was keenly enjoyed by all in attendance.

Another matter considered by the Charlotte merchants was this, according to the Observer:

"The association as a body passed a resolution favoring affiliation with the North Carolina Waterways' Association which was recently organized at Wilmington. Two delegates were elected to the meeting of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, which is to be held in the assembly hall of the New Willard Hotel, Washington, the 4th, 5th and 6th of December."

Reverting to the parcels post, those who favor it charge that the express companies are fighting it because it will break up their monopoly of express carriage. The Government will be in competition with them if the bill is passed.

THE NEW COAL ROAD.

Mr. George A. Carter, president of the South and Western Railroad, now being built from the Virginia and Kentucky coal fields through western North Carolina, recently took a trip over the road to inspect the work of construction and observe the progress of the work. In an interview concerning the plans and purposes of the new road, President Carter said:

"We are now considering three possible routes to give us connection with the seacoast from Bostic. One of these is via Gaffney to Charleston; another through Spartanburg, Augusta and Savannah, and the other is down the Wateree country to Charleston. We hold large property interests at Southport, Charleston and Savannah, but are not considering making Southport the sea terminal for our line."

"The line from Kant, Va., on the north, to Bostic, is 210 miles, 80 miles of which are in operation. We expect to have the entire line in operation within twelve months."

"Work on laying the rails through the Blue Ridge tunnel at McKinney's Gap will be completed this week. It is possible that we will have the line in operation within about eight months. The total length of the road after connection is secured to the seacoast, will be about 600 miles, and the cost will be between $50,000,000 and $55,000,000. The cost for building the road from Kant, Va., to Bostic was about $20,000,000, a distance of only 210 miles."

"We will get to Wilmington through the Seaboard Air Line, which runs through Charlotte. This should give direct connection with the Ohio River and Western roads. From Kant, Va., our line will be extended thirty-five miles to Elkhorn, Ky., to get connection with the Chesapeake and Ohio."

Wilmington is the logical terminus for the South and Western. Its completion from just beyond Marion to Bostic, near Rutherfordton will give the road its first all rail connection with any port, and that is Wilmington. If Wilmington gets that thirty foot channel we have no doubt that this city will be the principal port for this important road. The South and Western's business, however, will no doubt be large enough for two or three ports. Wilmington ought to do a grain export business when the new road gets in operation. It will not only tap the coal fields but will connect us with the grain, flour and meat producing country.

ONLY DISCOVERED.

The Washington dispatches state that telegrams and letters are pouring into the White House from all over the country, congratulating President Roosevelt upon "his plan" for the relief of the money stringency brought on by the New York panic. That plan as fully described in yesterday's Star, is to sell $50,000,000 of Panama Canal bonds, and particularly to issue $100,000,000 of Treasury certificates paying three per cent. interest to holders at the end of the year, expiring November 20th, 1908, when the certificates are to be redeemed. It turns out that the certificate plan is a rediscovery. It is a war measure. It is stated that the ground upon which the certificates will be issued is found in an act of Congress providing for the issue of $100,000,000 to furnish funds for carrying on the war with Spain in 1898. The act was passed June 13, 1898, and Section 32 reads as follows:

"That the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to borrow from time to time, at a rate of interest not exceeding 3 per cent. per annum, such sum or sums as, in his judgment may be necessary to meet public expenditures, and to issue therefor certificates of indebtedness in such form as he may prescribe, and in denominations of fifty dollars or some multiple of that sum, and each certificate so issued shall be payable, with interest accrued thereon at such time, not exceeding one year from the date of its issue, at the Secretary of the Treasury may prescribe, provided that the amount of such certificates outstanding shall at no time exceed one hundred millions of dollars."

MR. J. A. TAYLOR'S HARD HIT

Yesterday's Raleigh News and Observer pays this compliment to a Wilmingtonian:

"What President Taylor, of the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce, did to Mr. Price's friendly advice, to the farmers was a plenty. Mr. Price and his friends ought to bear their loss because they are short on December cotton and not try to get cotton farmers to bear it for them."

Mr. Taylor did hit Price hard. He has an incisive way of dissecting questions, and in his analysis of the Price proposition he exposed the cat in the meal tub.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—For the benefit of our Georgia contemporaries, we quote the following poem of hope, which is taken from a Kansas paper, which in turn transcribed it from the window of a Kansas saloon: "Hush, little saloon, don't you cry; you'll be a drug store by and bye."—Columbia State.

—As long as Mr. Roosevelt stands for high protective duties and subsidies, his occasional prosecutions of a trust that is being fed by the tariff will never reach the root of the trouble. The only remedy is to take away the right of the trusts to tax all the people to make themselves rich and then to prosecute for violations of law. You must have both to meet the needs.—Raleigh News and Observer.

—The United States government imposes a tax of 10 per cent on the issue of State banks. The people of the country should insist upon one of two things: Either that the government provide a banking system that will meet the needs of the South, West and East, or that it repeal the tax on State bank issues, and so give the people an opportunity to help themselves through State financial institutions. "More money" will not meet the requirements; what we want is money in circulation where and when we want it.—Columbia State.

—The effect of prohibitionary legislation in curbing the liquor traffic can, after all is said and done, be most accurately measured by the statistics of consumption. Compared with some other people the Americans are not heavy drinkers. Of late years the tendency toward a larger use of malt liquors with an accompanying lesser use of stronger drink has been very striking. This is a move in the direction of temperance which may be partially arrested by prohibitory statutes that, aiming to prevent all open traffic in liquors, indirectly encourage illicit traffic.—Philadelphia Record.

—A new sort of reciprocity proposal comes from a Japanese. Maro Takano, a leading citizen of Tokio, who seems to be a sort of unrecognized priest of Hymen, is in Seattle, according to a dispatch from that city, with a project to induce 10,000 of the best young women on the Pacific coast to go to Japan and marry the flower of the chivalry of that country. Still further to cement the ties of friendship between the two great powers of the Pacific, he proposes that Japan shall send over an equal number of its young men to seek their affinities among the fair maidens of the Pacific states. An association of Japanese gentlemen, he claims, will pay all the expenses of the brides expectant going, and also returning, if any of them become dissatisfied with conditions there. Evidently the Japanese have been studying the foreign alliances of our blue blooded American girls. As the Japanese wife is, reports say, the submissive slave of not only her husband but her mother-in-law, it is not likely that the spirited American girl will take kindly to the proposition. Maro might as well go home. Anyhow, American girls would not marry Asiatics.—Jacksonville Times-Union.

For Inflammation

Ladies

who suffer from inflammation of the womanly organs, should be careful that they do not allow the inflammation to spread, or take fast hold, since serious disease might result, requiring, possibly, an operation.

Pain is one of the first signs of inflammation, and when it remains constant, in the back, side, hips, head, or comes back every month, your trouble is nearly certain to be inflammation, and needs prompt treatment, with Wine of Cardui.

The great popular success of Cardui, during the past half century, tells volumes as to its merit for female complaints. Thousands of letters are received, telling of its curative powers. See the following, from Mrs. Mabel Hashenbarger, of Larkin, Kas.

"Before I took Cardui I suffered greatly with inflammation. It worked on me for some years, but hadn't bothered me much, till after my marriage, when it caused me two mishaps. After that, Cardui helped me so much and I am so thankful."

TWINKLINGS.

"Did you have a fine auto trip?"
"Very much so—all fines."—Baltimore American.

—Father—Is that young man here again? Daughter—No, pa, it's all the same call.—Harper's Bazar.

—Mr. Timmid—Yes, I was thinking of consulting a fortune teller. Miss Longwater—To find out whom you will marry? Mr. Timmid—Well—er—yes. Miss Longwater—Why not ask me and save the fortune teller's fee toward buying the ring?—Philadelphia Press.

—Mrs. Yeast—Did your husband get nervous over the late trouble in Wall Street? Mrs. Crimmonbeak—Not a particle. "Did he attempt to draw anything?" "Why, he didn't even try to draw a sober breath."—Yonkers Statesman.

—Gabriel—I have blown my trumpet three times and nobody pays any attention to it. Israel—That's strange Gabriel—Isn't it? People just make a hasty jump for the curbstone, and then look to see which way the auto went.—Cleveland Leader.

—Now be careful, Mr. Gibbins! You were, I believe, an old friend of the prisoner. Did you ever notice that he behaved strangely when he was alone?" "Well, sir, yer see, I weren't never wiv 'im when he was alone, sir."—London Tatler.

—"What is it my son?" "Pa, what does 'intermittent' mean?" "Intermittent," my son, is an adjective which describes my part of the conversation when I try to reason with your mother. "Pa," (a moment later) "Well my son?" "What is a financial crisis?" "A financial crisis, my son, is that state of domestic affairs superinduced by the purchase of your mother's spring bonnet."—Brooklyn Life.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

—The close game of football between Richmond College and the University of North Carolina eleven, reported won by Carolina by a score of 13 to 11 and played last Saturday at Chapel Hill, is being contested by the Virginians.

—A Seaboard Air Line car billed to Portsmouth, loaded with cotton, and the caboose of a freight train were burned at Johnston street, Raleigh, Sunday morning. It is thought that the stove in the caboose set the car on fire. Some of the cotton was saved.

—Raleigh, Nov. 18.—Governor Glenn has received and has accepted the invitation of President Roosevelt to a conference of all the Governors concerning matters of internal resources of this country, its water powers, forests, parks and so on. The conference is for May 13, 14 and 15 of next year.

—Reidsville, Nov. 18.—An old man was heard to say the other day that a man named Mitchell, of Stokes county in the time of the great pigeon roost of that county during the winter of 1857-8, killed 3,000 pigeons during one night and carried them to Salem (there was no Winston then) and sold them to Mr. DeSchweinitz, of the Salem Academy, for three cents apiece, making $90 for a two-horse load of the birds.

—Raleigh News and Observer: Chief Justice Walter Clark will go this week to Boston, Mass., where by invitation he will speak on Saturday night before the "Economic Club," his subject being "Judicial Supremacy." On Friday night he will speak in New York City before the "People's Institute," on "Shall the Constitution of the United States Be Amended by the Courts or by the People?" In both New York and Boston Judge Clark is to be entertained by the bar associations. He will be the guest of the New York Bar Association and the judges at a dinner, and in Boston will be entertained by the "Economic Club," at a dinner given in his honor.

—Kinston, Nov. 18.—Last night just after the Norfolk & Southern east-bound mail train had crossed the river bridge, about a half mile from Kinston, Mr. Coker, the bridge keeper, discovered an old colored woman lying beside the track, on the west side of the river, in a seriously injured condition. Investigation disclosed a broken collar bone, contusion of the head, serious bruises of the right eye and on the face, and a badly sprained arm and possibly two broken ribs. She was in a serious condition this morning and could give no coherent detail of how the accident happened. The crew of the train was unaware of any accident and knew nothing of the train's having struck anybody until it had reached Newbern, where the news had been wired ahead. The engineer of the train says that he did not see anybody on the track in front of the engine at this place, and feels sure that she was not struck by his engine.

—Kinston, Nov. 18.—Saturday night Peter Sutton, colored, shot and instantly killed his friend, Bias Whitfield, in the yard of a negro tenant, on Mr. Jim Water's place, near Fields' crossing. The coroner of Lenoir county, Dr. Green, was notified and held an inquest over the body Sunday afternoon. The post mortem disclosed that a full charge of shot from a shot gun had entered the left breast just above the left nipple, causing death instantly. A few witnesses were heard and the verdict of the coroner's jury was that Bias Whitfield came to his death by a shot from a gun, in the hands of Peter Sutton. Sutton was taken in custody by Deputy Sheriff George Waters, of LaGrange, and brought to Kinston last night and lodged in jail to await trial before the magistrate, which is to be held by Esquire Fields, in LaGrange, Wednesday. Sutton says that he and Whitfield were friends and that there was no ill feeling between them, and that the killing was absolutely accidental and unintentional.

—Raleigh News and Observer, Nov. 19.—Is Raleigh to be at the mercy of the whims and caprices of one man on the Board of Aldermen, or is it to be governed by the law? After dilly-dallying for over three months with the petition for an election on the question of prohibition as against the dispensary, the Board of Aldermen of Raleigh last night by the action of one alderman, were restrained from calling the election, a right guaranteed the people under the State law. Relying upon a technical advantage Alderman J. Sherwood Upchurch refused by his vote to give unanimous consent to suspend the rules so that the ordinance arranging the details of the election might be passed and the election, already ordered for the twenty-sixth of December might take place. By this action he thwarts the will of the people unless the courts can quickly correct him in his acts. His assigned reason for the action is for "fair play," claiming that many people desired to take their names from the petition for an election, and that if an opportunity was given by Thursday or Friday night for names to be taken from or added to the petition, that if there was still the required number of names for the calling of an election he would change his vote and cast it to suspend the rules and pass an ordinance providing for an election.

Tired Nervous Women Make Unhappy Homes

MRS. NELLIE MAKHAM

MRS. GEO. A. JAMES

A nervous irritable woman, often on the verge of hysterics, is a source of misery to everyone who comes under her influence, and unhappy and miserable herself.

Such women not only drive husbands from home but are wholly unfit to govern children.

The ills of women act like a fire brand upon the nerves, consequently seven-tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous despondency, the "blues", sleeplessness, and nervous irritability of women arise from some organic derangement.

Do you experience fits of depression with restlessness alternating with extreme irritability? Do you suffer from pains in the abdominal region, backache, bearing-down pains, nervous dyspepsia, sleeplessness, and almost continually cross and snappy? If so, your nerves are in a shattered condition and you are threatened with nervous prostration.

Proof is monumental that nothing in the world is better for nervous troubles of women than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs. Thousands and thousands of women can testify to this fact.

Mrs. Nellie Makham, of 151 Morgan St., Buffalo, N. Y., writes:—

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I was a wreck from nervous prostration, and you are threatened with nervous prostration."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs and today holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases of any medicine the world has ever known, and thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file in the laboratory at Lynn, Mass., which testify to its wonderful value.

would have to undergo an operation.
Yesterday afternoon a telegram was received from Capt. McNeill stating that the operation would not be necessary and that his son was doing as well as could be expected; in fact, that he was improving.

MRS. JAMES MADDEN DEAD

Passed Away Yesterday Evening
Rather Suddenly—FuneralMany friends in this city were shocked and saddened yesterday evening upon learning of the sudden death of Mrs. Margaret Madden, beloved wife of Mr. James Madden, one of Wilmington's oldest and most highly respected citizens, which occurred at the family home, on Red Cross street, last night shortly after 8 o'clock. The death was unexpected and came as a sad blow to the family and friends, all of whom were totally unprepared for the shock. Mrs. Madden was 65 years of age and had lived quite all her life in Wilmington. She was much loved and esteemed by all in the circle of her acquaintance for her strong Christian character and splendid disposition. She is survived by her husband and one daughter, Mrs.
W. J. Bergen, of this city. The beloved ones have the sympathy of all in the sorrow which has come to them.
The funeral services will be conducted tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock from St. Thomas' Catholic Church and the remains will be laid to rest in Oakdale cemetery.

Fell Into the Pool.

A certain young electrical contractor and one of his workmen engaged yesterday afternoon in doing some wiring in the First Baptist Church, are in no frame of mind to appreciate the humor of a situation in which they were literally plunged yesterday afternoon. While at their work, in some way, the contractor lost his footing and fell bodily into the baptismal pool, quickly followed by his helper, who plunged in directly on top of him. From reports they had to do some lively splashing about in the pool before they were out again.

LOCAL DOTS.

—First Church of Christ, Scientist, Carolina Place, services this evening at 8:15 o'clock. All are invited.—Oysters are plentiful on the New-bern market, prices ranging from 65c to $1.00 per bushel.—The Philadelphia market was quoted yesterday active at $1.25 to $1.75 for lettuce and $2 to $2.50 for beans.—There will be a meeting of the Home Science Department of Sorosis at 4 o'clock this afternoon in the Club Rooms. All members are requested to be in attendance.—The schooner Edwina, Capt. Mc-Keen, which sailed for New York Monday with a cargo of lumber, put back into Southport Tuesday on account of strong head winds.—The British steamer Dinsdalehall, 2,534 tons, Capt. Burn, arrived yesterday from Hamburg, via Norfolk, and is consigned to Messrs. Heide & Co.
She has cargo of fertilizer constituents for the upper compress.—By deed filed for record yesterday
John Thomas transferred to Virginia
W. Thomas, for $1 and natural love and affection, property on east side of Seventh, 107 feet south of Wooster street.—It will be a pleasure to the young people to know that on Friday afternoon following Thanksgiving, November 29th, Mrs. Curtis Arnall-North will tell the story to the children at the "Children's Hour" at the public library.—Ellery Barnes, the negro tried Tuesday afternoon before Justice Furlong on a charge of seduction, was yesterday bound to the higher court under bond of $50, which was given by his employer, Mr. Isadore Bear.The case will now come up in the Superior Court at the January term.—The Raleigh correspondent of the Charlotte Observer of yesterday says that surprise is expressed there that so much cotton is coming into Wilmington as none is brought to that market; that the holding of cotton was never so close as it is at present in that section of North Carolina.The Raleigh correspondent is perhaps inadvertent to the fact that a large part of Wilmington's receipts come from South Carolina and Georgia.—A dispatch from Newbern dated the 18th says: "The remains of Mrs.
Samuel Fulford, nee Jennie Piner, of Smyrna, passed through the city from her home, Southport, N. C., for her former home, where interment took place. The circumstances connected with this death are indeed sad, she having been a bride of only four months. Those left to mourn her demise are a devoted father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Jordan Piner, a brother and sister, Master Willie and Miss Ethel Piner, of this city."

REVIVAL STILL IN PROGRESS

Evangelist Violett Preaching to Large Congregations Here.The revival meetings at the Tabernacle on Seventh and Orange streets is attaining even larger proportions than last week. Sunday was red letter day and interest was at the highest pitch. In the afternoon the Academy was well filled with a congregation of eager listeners. Mr. Violett spoke with fluency and great power on "The Misinterpreted Christ," pointing out that he had been misinterpreted in allowing over 600 denominations to spring up where there was but one church organized by Him. His plea was for a union of God's people on the Bible alone as their only rule of faith and practice.The services in the Tabernacle in the evening were largely attended.
Every seat was taken and many stood during the hour to listen to the talented young divine. The subject was
"The World's Gain versus Soul Gain."
It was a powerful, convincing sermon.
Fifteen responded to the call during the two invitations, making 16 additions during the day.Monday night Mr. Violett spoke on "The Judgment Day." He showed the importance and the safety of taking the Bible only as a guide from earth to Heaven.Professor Marks led the singing in a splendid manner, inspiring the hearts of all. He rendered a beautiful solo at the evening service Sunday that touched the hearts of all his hearers.

Case of Capt. S. E. Jones.

Messrs. Marsden Bellamy, Sr., and Herbert McClammy, counsel for Capt.
S. E. Jones, the young man in jail on a civil suit for $10,000 damages growing out of a charge of seduction brought against him by Mr. James Hewitt, whose daughter he is alleged to have wronged, left last night for Kenansville, N. C., where they will lodge a motion in the case looking to the young man's release before Judge
J. Crawford Biggs, holding Superior Court there. The nature of the motion was not made public before the attorneys left. They expect to return to the city this evening.

LIBRARY'S ANNIVERSARY.

Its First Year Complete on November 30th—"Gift Day."On the 30th of the present month the Wilmington Public Library will have completed its first year. During the past twelve-month a great deal has been accomplished and the library has not only gone forward with most satisfactory progress but it has demonstrated its usefulness in the community. It is now proposed to make of the first anniversary of the institution a "gift day" for which donations are asked not only in books but in money. It is readily appreciated that even if the smallest contributions were made by the people generally the usefulness of the library could be increased ten-fold. With a faith in the generosity and public spirit of Wilmington people, which has never been wanting for even less worthy objects, circular letters reading as follows were yesterday mailed to all the leading business houses of the city:"Our Public Library will be one year old on the 30th day of November, and, as it has outgrown our expectations in every respect, it naturally calls for a greater outlay of money than the present appropriation covers."We are therefore going to give you a opportunity to show your appreciation of what it is doing by asking you for a nice contribution toward its maintenance, believing that you will be glad to lend a helping hand to an institution of such immense benefit to our community."Please give, or send, the amount you are willing to donate, to the Librarian before the first of December, as we wish to collect as large an amount as possible by that time.Very cordially yours, Entertainment Committee.It is hoped that the responses to this letter will be general and that the annual report at the end of the fiscal year will show a greater public appreciation of the library and its benefits. The invitation is general to all persons whether they have received copies of the letter or not.

MR. JOHN BOLLES IN PARTY.

Former Wilmingtonian Participated in Honors to Secretary Taft.Wilmington friends of Mr. John W.
Bolles, who is in charge of the vast Standard Oil interests in China, will be interested in the extended accounts given in The China Mail of the distinguished courtesies shown in Hong Kong to Secretary of War Taft upon the occasion of his visit there, all of which Mr. Bolles had a prominent part. At aiffin given at the Tung Tien Low by Consul General A. P.
Wilder in honor of Mr. Taft at which about 45 Chinese and fifteen Europeans were present, His Excellency, Wu Ting Fang being among the number, Mr. Bolles in proposing the health of the Emperor of China said:"This company represents in the main the great Empire of China. That China may peacefully develop a patriotic self-consciousness, and take the position among the powers of earth to which her splendid resources and the industry, the thrift and friendliness of her people entitle her, and which the God of nations has in store for her, is the wish of right-thinking men of all nations."Mr. Bolles was also a guest at a dinner given in honor of Mr. and Mrs.
Taft by Sir Frederick and Lady Lurgdagh, which is described in the China Mail as having been a most elaborate function.

"SWEETEST GIRL IN DIXIE"

Attraction at Academy of Music on Friday Evening.The Academy Friday night will offer
"The Sweetest Girl in Dixie" and of it the Montgomery (Ala) Advertiser says:"The Sweetest Girl in Dixie" pleased an audience of goodly size at the Bijou Theatre Thursday night, when the play was presented for the first performance of a three-night engagement. The play, of which the scene is laid in the South, is interesting. It is called an idyll of the Southland and is written by a Southern woman, Miss Freda Slemmons, a daughter of Congressman Slemmons, of Arkansas. Its leading characters are a Southern colonel and his daughter, two faithful old negroes, a carpetbagger and his sister, and a distant cousin of the Southern girl. They are involved in a plot in which there is an intermingling of pathos and humor."The sale of seats will commence tomorrow at Plummer's. Seats will be 50 and 75 cents. Box seats $1.

COAST LINE DIRECTORS

Dividend Deferred at Richmond Meeting—President Emerson Says Reduced Passenger Rate is Confiscatory—Mr. Walters.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)
Richmond, Va., Nov. 19.—The annual meeting of the Atlantic Coast Line stockholders was held here today. The old officers and directors were re-elected. The directors announced that owing to the unsettled financial situation they had decided to act on the dividend until a called meeting to be held some time in December.

(Special Star Telegram)
Richmond, Va., Nov. 19.—President Emerson called attention in his report to the fact that the Atlantic Coast Line was now operating at the reduced passenger rates in these states, "although," he added, "we believe them to be confiscatory and their legality is being tested in the courts. In the meantime the company is suffering irreparable loss pending final decision."

To the stockholders, Chairman Walters of the Board of Directors, said that the great increase in the cost of operating was due to two reasons, labor and material. The labor unions, he said, are strongly organized and "have enforced unfair burdens on the road." He also said that within the past ten years the cost of material had increased about 70 per cent. There was retrenchment in every department, Mr. Walters said, and he felt confident that this policy, made necessary by unusual conditions, would serve as a protection to stockholders and the property itself.

ACTOR HITCHCOCK'S TRIAL

Court Will Take Up Serious Charge in Two Weeks.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)
New York, Nov. 19.—The trial of Raymond Hitchcock, the comedian, on six indictments growing out of charges preferred against him of assault on several young girls, probably will begin within two weeks. This announcement was made today following an agreement between the district attorney's office and the defendant's counsel as a result of which Hitchcock's counsel withdrew a motion made several days ago that he be permitted to inspect the minutes of the grand jury which reported the indictments. In withdrawing the motion, the attorney said it was done in the interest of an early trial for the actor. At the same time Assistant District Attorney Garvan informed the court that the district attorney agreed that the case should not be delayed and that he believed it could be brought to trial within ten days.

The arrest and indictment of Hitchcock and his subsequent mysterious disappearance and equally mysterious return was one of the sensations of the year in theatrical circles. Hitchcock is now at liberty on $7,500 bail and is appearing nightly on the stage in his old part in "A Yankee Tourist."

DEAL INVOLVED BIG MEN

Grand Jury in New York Investigating Traction Scandal.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)
New York, Nov. 19.—Thomas F. Ryan and Anthony N. Brady, the former traction promoters, and Paul D. Cravath, the lawyer, were called as witnesses before the grand jury in the investigation which the district attorney's office is making of the sale of the Wall and Courtland Street Ferries Railway Company to the Metropolitan Securities Company.
The activity of the grand jury in this matter grows out of the Public Service Commission's investigation of the local traction mergers. Anthony N. Brady sold the Wall and Courtland Street Company, which owned nothing but a franchise, for $965,000, of which he kept, $250,000 and paid $111,625 each to William C. Whitney, the president of the Metropolitan Securities Company, Thomas F. Ryan, William L. Elkins, P. A. B. Widener and Thomas Dolan. Evidence has been given that the bulk of the money was turned to Mr. Whitney.

MAURETANIA IN BAD GALE

Big Steamship Making Good Run on First Voyage.

(By Wireless Telegraph to Associated Press Via Crook Haven.)
On Board the Steamship Mauretania, Tuesday, A. M. November 19.—The Mauretania ran into a southwest gale Monday morning which increased in the afternoon until at 3 o'clock we had to reduce speed for one hour and forty minutes. Full speed was then resumed. The reduced speed resulted in a loss of 17 miles. The passengers generally were not aware of the speed reduction. The seas were so heavy that the spare anchor had to be secured with extra lashings. The run up to noon yesterday Monday was 571 miles.

London, Nov. 19.—Wireless messages received here from the Mauretania indicates that no attempt is being made to break records but the 571 miles made up to noon of Monday compares well with the first day's run, 561 miles, of the Lusitania on her maiden trip.

MRS. BRADLEY TELLS OF TRAGEDY

on one occasion, on seeing the boy exclaimed: "This is my beloved son in whom I am well pleased."

He had been very fond of the oldest boy, and often noted his resemblance to himself and had said of the boy: "I must make him a Supreme Judge of the United States."

Mrs. Bradley said she had agreed in 1901 that Brown should get a divorce and marry her and when she had warned him that it would cost him his position he had declared that he cared for nothing but her.

While they were at Grand Junction, Mrs. Bradley continued, Mr. Brown had assured her that his arrangement for a divorce was progressing and that a compromise with Mrs. Brown had been agreed upon.

Mrs. Bradley here detailed several trips she made to various parts of the country with Senator Brown. She traveled as Mrs. Brown, she said, and had been introduced by that name. Brown's bearing towards her had been courtly and loving, she said.

She testified that in 1902 when the question of divorce between Brown and his wife had reached its climax Brown dictated the following statement to Mrs. Brown's attorney:

"I say to you that I will make Mrs. Brown get a divorce and if she does not do it I will myself get one. I will marry Mrs. Bradley; I will stand by her as long as I live."

Mrs. Bradley told of one occasion in 1903 when she read in the newspapers the statement that Brown had forsaken her and became reconciled to his wife and had waited a month to see him regarding the truth of it.

Then she upbraided him for his desertion and asked him why he had not allowed her to save herself before "sinking her to the last depths of despair and degradation." He had replied, she testified, that he had only taken his present course to guard criminal prosecutions against him for adultery and that when they were at an end he would keep all his pledges to marry her and protect the children.

He declared that Mrs. Brown was determined to send him to the penitentiary.

Mrs. Bradley said that in the Spring of 1905 Brown had performed a third criminal operation on her with the result that she was very ill and greatly depressed. Again on this occasion Brown renewed his promises to her.

Mrs. Brown died in August, 1905, and the very next day afterwards Brown came to Mrs. Bradley's house and told her that she should procure a divorce, adding that he would then make everything all right. After she got the divorce his manner was variable she said: sometimes encouraging and at others disappointing. At last he promised to marry her in June, 1906, saying he would not ask for another moment of delay. According to Mrs. Bradley, he said "If I do not marry you then, may God avenge me."

In October a third child was born to Mrs. Bradley. She then spoke of how Brown continually postponed the marriage and that finally his feelings toward her had changed completely.

When court adjourned Mrs. Bradley had almost completed her recital of her relations with the former Senator. She had not reached the events which occurred in Washington, but had approached them, and they will constitute the principal part of her testimony tomorrow.

PROHIBITION IN ALABAMA.

Children Were Too Much for Opponents of Measure.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)
Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 19.—The Senate this afternoon passed the prohibition bill 32 to 2. Spragins and Hamner being the only members to vote against it. The law becomes operative January 1, 1909. An amendment to this effect having been adopted with but one dissenting vote, before the roll on the passage of the bill was called.

When two car loads of Mobile women came to the city today to lobby against the prohibition bill, passed by the House and pending in the Senate, they found that delegations from Montgomery, Selma and Birmingham, who favor the prohibition measure, had filled the Senate galleries until not a seat was left. It was a plan to crowd them out and it carried. Little children stood in the lobbies and pinned ribbons on every one who came in. The children were kept out of school to work against whiskey. The vote on the bill was scheduled to be taken today.

APPEARING OLD

Lets as a Bar to Profitable Employment.

You cannot afford to grow old. In these days of strenuous competition it is necessary to maintain, as long as possible, one's youthful appearance.

It is impossible to do this without retaining a luxurious growth of hair. The presence of Dandruff indicates the presence of a burrowing germ which eats and thrives on the roots of the hair until it causes total baldness.

Newbro's Herpicide is the only known destroyer of this pest, and it is as effective as it is delightful to use. Herpicide makes an elegant hair dressing as well as Dandruff cure.

Accept no substitute—there is none. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

BEFORE THE MAYOR

The Legless Negro Stuck by Mr. Konig Given a Hearing.

There were a dozen or more defendants before the Mayor yesterday at noon in the police court, but decidedly the most interesting one was William Henry James, the legless young colored man who was captured in such unique manner with a pitchfork in Mr. H. W. Konig's store a few nights since. James said that he had secreted himself in the pile of hay at the behest of a negro who was employed in the store and who said that he would tell him when it was time to get out. The plea was not acceptable to the Mayor and James was held for the January term of court in the sum of $50 which he could not give and went to jail.

Charity Parker, colored, was charged with vagrancy but this could not be proved. She was let off with the costs for disorderly conduct. Rachel Smith and Henry Smith for a general carousal in Strauss' alley, were each given 30 days. The same was the portion of Mary Crawford, colored, charged with disorderly conduct.

Hammond Tietgen, charged with a repeated offense of drunkenness, was sent to the farm for 30 days as it was seen that he was not physically able to do work on the roads.

THE LIBRARY BENEFIT

"Carnival of Lavender and Old Lace" in December.

Preparations are in progress for the "Carnival of Lavender and Old Lace," which will be given in the parlors of the Elks' Temple, for the benefit of the public library, on the evening of December 4th. Circulars have been prepared advertising the event, which will be quite a charming social affair. Every one who attends the carnival will be invited, but not required to wear an out of date costume. A prize is to be given to the person clad in the most interesting costume and the decision will be made by a vote of those present. Other delightful features will be in abundance at the carnival which will make the affair one of the most pleasant events of the season. Tickets for the carnival have been placed on sale at Plummer's store on Front street.

Delaware friends of Judge George Gray held a conference in Wilmington, that State, yesterday to consider the probability of securing his nomination of President by the Democratic National convention next year. It was decided to communicate with prominent Democrats of other states for the purpose of presenting Judge Gray's name to their consideration and asking their co-operation toward securing his nomination.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)
 New York, Nov. 19.—There was a renewal of liquidation in the stock market today of a character which carried a formidable influence on speculative sentiment. The effect for good of the national government's plan of relief for the currency situation seemed to have passed away completely, this result being an extension of yesterday's tendency when the progress of the day's dealings witnessed a steady waning of the effect of that factor. Prices today got back generally to below the closing level of last week and in not a few instances to the lowest prices of the year. The pressure to liquidate first developed in portions form in the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad callateral 4s and later in the United States Steel securities, including the sinking fund bonds. The selling of St. Paul, Union Pacific and New York Central was supposed to be connected in some way. The weakness of these stocks was the conspicuous feature of the day's market and it was its sympathetic effect, more than anything else, that gave the tone to the rest of the market.

There was an intimation from Washington of the purpose of the Secretary of the Treasury to transfer the proceeds of New York subscriptions to the one year certificates to points of active demand in the interior. The rights to issue bank notes against the certificates, which could not be counted as bank reserves under the law, might not compensate the banks for such a surrender of reserve holdings.

Reports of further large curtailment of iron output was an influence on the market and the shrinkage in activity is to be reckoned with. The decline in prices was continued practically without interruption to the closing. Bonds were weak.
 Total sales $4,844,000. United States 2s declined 1/2, the 3s 1/4 and 4s 1/2 cent, on call.

THE COTTON MARKET.

New York, Nov. 19.—The cotton market was rather less active today and ruled unsettled with the close steady at a net advance of one point to a decline of 7 points. Sales were estimated at 200,000 bales. The market opened steady at a decline of 13 points to an advance of 5 points, the main loss being on December which was offered down on the call, possibly in order to make a buying basis for the later months which were relatively firm and in active demand. Little attention was paid to the cables, which were below expectations owing to it was reported to prospects of a strike in Lancashire, and prices worked up to a net gain of 2 to 6 points during the early session with December recovering its premium over January in spite of the rumors which were persistently circulated during the entire day that a private settlement had been made on about 50,000 bales of December shorts and that this interest was going long of January. March and May. During the late trading the market was quite regular but December still showed a premium of 40 points over January at the close which was against the assumption that the short interest in that position had been entirely eliminated. Local spot people continue to report a very poor demand from New England but there were continued claims of an export demand in the South and bulls said that spot offerings were very limited.

It was rumored that a prominent English authority was issuing an estimate placing the crop at 11,600,000 bales.

Receipts at the ports today 68,216 bales against 70,157 last week and 104,297 last year. For the week, 340,000 bales against 354,243 last week and 412,949 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 20,562 bales, against 22,665 last year, and at Houston 17,146 bales against 70,493 last year.

A Hard Debt to Pay.
 "I owe a debt of gratitude that can never be paid off," writes G. S. Clark, of Westfield, Iowa, "for the rescue from death, by Dr. King's New Discovery. Both lungs were so seriously affected that death seemed imminent, when I commenced taking New Discovery. The ominous dry, hacking cough quit before the first bottle was used, and two more bottles made a complete cure." Nothing has ever equalled New Discovery for coughs, colds and all throat and lung complaints. Guaranteed by R. R. Bellamy, druggist. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

You can hitch the dollar to a bigger load than it ever pulled before at Penny's Panic Sale.

DEEP WATERWAY ALONG COAST

Five Hundred Delegates Attend Great Conference at Philadelphia to Promote Scheme.

ARE FROM MAINE TO FLORIDA

Congress Urged to Provide for Inland Navigation From Cape Cod to Beaufort Inlet, N. C.— Delegates Enthusiastic.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 19.—The Atlantic Deep Waterways Conference, having for its object the improvement of inland waterways along the Atlantic coast, and more particularly the Carolinas to Boston, began at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel here today. The interest in the question of improved inland waterways was amply shown by the large attendance of representatives from nearly all the Atlantic states from Maine to Florida, an attendance that far exceeds the expectations of the promoters of the conference. The delegates numbered more than 500 and were appointed by the governors of their respective States or commercial bodies. Among those present were United States Senator Newlands, of Nevada, who is vice president of the United States Inland Waterways Commission, Senator Dupont, of Delaware; Judge Geo. Gray, of the United States Circuit Court, and Congressmen from the various States interested.

It is the idea of the projectors to run the waterway from Barnstable Bay on the north side of Cape Cod to Beaufort Inlet, North Carolina. This would require the cutting of a canal through Cape Cod from Barnstable Bay to Buzzards Bay on the south, reducing the water distance from Boston to New York about 75 miles. The course of the route would then run through long island sound and down to the Raritan canal at Perth Amboy, N. J. The route then would be through the Canal down the Delaware river, past Philadelphia and through the Chesapeake and Delaware canal, down Chesapeake Bay to Norfolk, along the Elizabeth river and through a cut across Virginia to Currituck sound. The route then would lay through Coanook bay, a cut through North Carolina, into Albemarle sound, then through Croatan sound into Pamlico sound, into Neuse river. By deepening and widening Adams Creek and Core Creek, the route would end in Beaufort Inlet and the ocean.

Each State delegation spoke for its particular section and all approved the general scheme of the coast waterway. The principal speaker was Senator Newlands, who gave a general outline of the work of the Waterways Commission and promised that the waterways along the Atlantic coast would be given early attention by that body. In the course of the proceedings, Senator Newlands announced that he was opposed to private ownership of canals that form a part of any inland water system. All inland water systems, he said, should be controlled by the federal government. He was not opposed, he said, to private capital building canals but the government should be in a position to take the move at a fair compensation in case the government wants them.

Congressman H. H. Bingham, of this city, presided at the morning session at which addresses were made by Senator Newlands, Charles Heber Clark, of Philadelphia; William Barclay Parsons, of New York; L. E. Chamberlain, of Boston; Mass. president of the Massachusetts Board of Trade; Congressman Goulden, of New York, and William B. Jones, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Albany, N. Y.

Congressman J. Van Vrehten Olcott, of New York, presided at the afternoon session and among the speakers were Congressmen G. E. Waldo, of New York; Colonel C. P. Goodyear, of Brunswick, Ga.; Professor Lewis M. Haupt, of Philadelphia; Congressman Joel Cook of Philadelphia; Colonel Alex K. McClure, of Philadelphia; General S. M. Mansfield of the Board of Harbor and Land Commissioners, Massachusetts; Colonel P. A. Stovall, Savannah, Ga., and A. O. Crozier, Wilmington, Del.

The general trend of the addresses at the afternoon sessions was the great need of the development of the waterways, not only on the Atlantic coast, but through the country. None of the speakers antagonized the railroads, but those who touched upon the railroads' position said that the volume of freight traffic in the country was great enough to give the railroads a profitable income after the waterways receive their share of the traffic.

Before, adjournment for the day several committees were appointed, among them being one which will draft a set of resolutions asking Congress to make surveys and otherwise give impetus to the movement.

The following telegram was sent to the President by the convention: "Atlantic Deep Waterways Conference, Assembled in Philadelphia, appreciates your interest in the improvement question of waterway transportation and sends hearty greetings."

In consequence of the cancellation of large orders for cigars from New York, Chicago and other cities, together with the shortage of the Cuban tobacco crop, over 1,000 cigar makers were laid off by some of the large cigar factories of Tampa, Fla.

FEDERATION OF LABOR

President Gompers Sat Down on Movement to Organize Labor Party—Tobacco Companies
Boycotted.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 19.—The American Federation of Labor today rejected an amendment to its laws proposing that in the future no arbitration upon a jurisdictional dispute between two or more national or international unions shall be considered by the Federation or by the executive council between sessions, unless all parties in interest, by convention, referendum or in some other proper way agree before the question is taken up to be bound by the decision given. The vote was taken after long discussion in which it was held that to adopt this new proposition could work to the advantage of the stronger body as against the weaker organization in all disputes, and stood, 7,256 to 6,833 out of a total possible vote of 14,914. The proposition required a two-thirds vote to pass.

The Federation adopted caustic resolutions against the American and Continental Tobacco companies and calling for the boycott of drug stores all over the country having certain kinds of cigar stands which were ordered on the "we don't patronize" list. The executive council was given authority to remove from the "We don't patronize" list the names of concerns and goods thereon where international unions that asked this are not found to be properly pushing the boycotts.

The treasurer was directed to deposit on interest-bearing certificates all American Federation of Labor funds over $15,000.

In receiving the report of its boycott committee the convention referred many resolutions calling for publication on the "We don't patronize" list of the products of concerns in various cities, to its executive council to be handled "in accordance with law."

The convention ratified the appointment of two special committees to confer with the farmers of the country represented by the affiliated American Society of Equity and bring about a better understanding with the view to having the farmers fully cooperate with the trades unions by refusing to buy boycotted farm supply goods.

The Federation rejected a resolution providing for a committee to recommend to the 1908 convention ways and means for the establishment of a national sanitarium to be owned and operated by the Federation particularly for the treatment of consumptives.

A resolution was introduced by J. H. Walker, of the United Mine Workers, providing that the executive council prepare a document setting forth reasons for the inauguration of a united political movement by the working people of the country, this document to be sent to all affiliated bodies and other bona fide organizations, the general result to be reported to the 1908 convention. This came up as a substitute for a resolution offered by Victor L. Berger, of Milwaukee, the socialist leader, with something of the same political significance, though ruled out of order by President Gompers.

PASSENGER TRAINS CRASH.

Head-On Collision at Washington Terminal of Southern.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.) Washington, Nov. 19.—Seventeen persons were injured, none fatally, in a head-on collision between north-bound and southbound Southern Railway passenger trains at the entrance of the new terminal tunnel at New Jersey avenue and D street, in this city, late this afternoon. Both engines were demolished and several coaches badly damaged. The injuries of 17 were such as to require their removal to hospital.

A number of others were injured, but were able to continue on their journey. All of the injured in the hospitals are expected to recover.

The two trains, northbound from Danville and one southbound from Charlottesville were late owing to congestion of traffic at the new terminal, and the collision was caused, it is said, by a switchman giving the wrong signal, thereby allowing the southbound train to go out on the northbound track. All trains from the south using the tunnel into the new Union station are operated by the Washington Terminal Company, and Southern Railway officials disclaim responsibility for the accident.

TAFT OFF FOR ST. PETERSBURG.

Russian Government Takes Precautions for His Safety.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.) Vladivostok, Nov. 19.—Secretary of War Taft and party left Vladivostok at 2 o'clock this afternoon for St. Petersburg. He was escorted to the train by a large party of naval and military officers and rigid precautions for his safety were taken by order of the government.

MRS. A. M. BRADLEY TELLS OF TRAGEDY

She Murdered Former United States Senator Brown, of Utah, in Desperation.

STORY OF UNHAPPY LIFE

Senator Stole Her Away From Her Husband and Finally Spurned Her—Defense Attempting to Show Irresponsibility.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Washington, Nov. 19.—"I am so tired," said Mrs. Annie M. Bradley, the defendant in the trial now in progress in the criminal court in this city a few minutes before 3 o'clock today, after she had spent about four hours on the witness stand relating the details of her acquaintanceship and intimacy with former United States Senator Brown, with whose murder she stands accused, and Judge Stafford immediately gave orders for the adjournment of the court. She had not reached the events directly connected with the tragedy in which Brown was killed, but had very closely approached them, and they will be the subject of her first testimony to be given tomorrow.

Today's story dealt with the first acquaintance of Mrs. Bradley with Brown and told how that acquaintance gradually ripened into friendship and finally into love. It was a long and pathetic narrative of illicit affection; of promises of marriage which could at first be made only on the condition of divorce on both sides and then of disappointment and grief when both became free and could have been legally united if Brown had been willing. Mrs. Bradley gave the particulars of many pledges made to her, told how Brown had introduced her as his wife and of how he had given his name to one of their children, and also of how he had aided her in no less than three criminal operations. She related also many pleasant incidents of their life together. She wore a smile when she spoke of her pride in his intellectual attainments and told of their reading together the principal poets. She said she told her over and again that she was the only woman he had ever loved, and averred that by his manner towards her and his superior attainments he had gained a complete mastery over her.

The court room was crowded during the entire day, and many of the spectators were women. Tears were frequently shed, not only by the general audience, but once or twice by members of the jury. Mrs. Bradley was quite emotional at times, and her voice was scarcely audible at times. Her attorneys were, however, quite satisfied with her condition when she concluded, notwithstanding her confessed fatigue, and they expressed confidence after the witness left the stand that she would be able to proceed to the end without a breakdown. Mrs. Bradley said her health had failed during her association with Brown, and she told of one occasion, when she was tempted to commit suicide.

Judge Powers asked the questions and they were at first directed to developing a history of the defendant, who said that she was 35 years old; that she was born in Kansas City and educated in Denver; that she had had small pox and pneumonia and had been badly hurt by a blow on the head while a child. She went to Salt Lake City in 1890, she said, and had lived there ever since. She had occupied a clerical position in the Salt Lake Waterworks for three years and 8 months.

"Were you ever married?" "Yes sir; I was married to Clarence Bradley a week after I left the waterworks." Two children—a boy and a girl resulted from this union, she said. Her relations with her husband were unhappy and she was divorced in 1905. The witness then told of being introduced to Senator Brown by her uncle and of afterwards coming to know him well while she was secretary of the Republican committee. The acquaintance had continued to ripen until 1898, but when Mrs. Bradley was asked to give a description of his relationship, she fell into tears and appeared for a time unable to proceed. "The acquaintance grew into very intimate relations," she finally answered.

"Did they ripen into affection?" she was next asked.

"It did; after August, 1898, I discovered that he loved me and afterwards that I loved him. His love for me was beyond expression."

"Was a child born to you and him?"

"Yes, in February, 1899."

"Tell the jury how you came to enter into these relations."

This inquiry brought out a long narrative.

"The Senator told me he was very unhappy, very wretched. I had told him that our relationship could only result in grief and sorrow and he replied that he would stay by me all my life. Finally he came to me and said: 'Darling, we are going on together all through life; you can't avoid me and I want you to have a son.' Finally after several months I consented."

"Consented to what?" asked Mr. Powers.

"To his proposition," responded the witness. She said the son had been christened in Brown's presence and it had been given the Senator's name.

"Did you believe in his protestations of affection?"

"I didn't believe it possible for any one to ask a woman to have a child and not be fond of her."

Mrs. Bradley then told of the birth of her second child and of a criminal operation which she said had been performed in 1901 by Mr. Brown himself, after which she was very ill for two weeks. She had felt that it was very wrong, "but Oh, it is so hard to tell one's feelings." Brown, she said, upon returning to Salt Lake
